Second Time.

ALBANY, Jan. 22 .- The Court of Appeals has amrmed the judgment of the Appellate Division reinstating on the New York police force Lieut. William
J. Eggers, who was head of the socalled "vice squad" of Police Headquarters under former Police Commissioner

Eggers was removed by Commissioner transferred to the Detective Bureau in Brooklyn, on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer and neglect of duty coming an officer and neglect of duty in that he failed to report the existence of certain alleged disorderly houses.

The Appellate Division held that important evidence of Eggers had been excluded in his trial by the Deputy Commissioner. The opinion of the Appellate Division commented on the long and excellent record of Eggers, and held that the punishment dealt out to him was too severe.

The Court of Appeals hands down its desiston without opinion.
